

¡Cine Magnífico! Albuquerque's 2017 Latino Film Festival

¡Cine Magnífico!'s vision is to present the newest films by and about Latinos to promote our culture through film and enrich our local art community.

This year's festival runs September 14-17 and features films from all over the Latin American sphere, with Hispanic culture as the core topic alongside other important social issues such as migration, cultural identity, LGBTQ, Spanish language and indigenous peoples.

The economic crisis, the 15-M movement and the pilgrims awaiting the arrival of the Pope, all coexist in a Madrid that's hotter and more chaotic than ever. Inspectors Velarde and Alfaro must find what appears to be a serial killer as soon as possible and with the utmost confidentiality. This hunt against the clock will make them realize something they'd never thought about: neither one of them is that different from the killer.
