

2021 Denver Film Festival

The 44th edition of the Denver Film Festival will be featuring three films and one short film from Spain, with Almodóvar, Sotorra, Morales, and Cipani

After its online edition in 2020, the Denver Film Festival returns November 3-14 to in-person events for its 44th year, featuring films from around the world. This year will include in-person events like red carpet premieres, events and screenings at the Sie FilmCenter and satellite locations, interactive goings-on, filmmaker conversations, and more. Part of the program and bonus features will also be available to stream on demand on the festival's virtual cinema platform.

Madres paralelas.

- In Spanish with English subtitles. Watch trailer.

Two women coincide in a hospital room where they are going to give birth. Both are single and became pregnant by accident. Janis (Penélope Cruz), middle aged, is exultant. Ana (Milena Smit), an adolescent, is scared, repentant and traumatized. The few words they exchange in these hours will create a very close link between the two, which by chance develops and complicates, and changes their lives in a decisive way.
