

Kaos Garden by Okuda San Miguel with Paco Osuna

Elrow'art –a global platform for top international artists to create innovative works where entertainment and electronic music meet contemporary art– makes its debut in New York, featuring multi-colored Spanish artist Okuda San Miguel and DJ Paco Osuna.

Brooklyn's Avant Garder space will be transformed into a polychromatic paradise as it hosts the universe of Spanish contemporary artist Okuda San Miguel. Aerial sculptures, fantastical characters and lots of fun will go hand-in-hand on December 14th from 7 pm to 4:30 am.

Okuda, known for his iconic “pop-surrealist” art form, describes the Kaos Garden he has created: “I’ve turned one of my favourite paintings of all times – the Garden of Earthly Delights – into something real. You know what I mean, that mega famous painting by the Dutch guy El Bosco with three scenes that tell us our future: paradise, the earth and hell itself.”

The event will be headlined by Paco Osuna, one of the most renowned artists in the electronic music industry, followed by the quirky English producer Eats Everything and the Swiss talent Andrea Oliva, as well as Latmun and many more.
