

Mons Dansa: Paper Dreams

The company will be performing “Paper Dreams,” a dance piece for little ones featuring lyrical movement and object theater to tell the stories left behind on scrap pieces of paper.

Mons dance and education is a dance company with a long history, specializing in the creation of dance aimed at children and families. It also carries out various educational projects, which aim to spread the dance and new audiences. They are committed to quality shows, giving children access to quality cultural events, which should help to enrich their education and make them grow up as individuals.

Through their educational projects, they aim to spread the dance as a powerful educational tool, approaching the school environment, working with both the students and the teachers.

One of their goals is to promote collaborations with other companies or entities, both national and international, to add experience and enrich one another through projects both artistic and educational.

The company has earned many awards, including the 2009 Premio Nacional de Catalunya de Dansa, the FETEN 2009 prize and the 2010 Award from the Association Dansa Cat. In 2006, Mons Dansa launched the Dansa a les escoles educational project to introduce contemporary dance to public school students throughout Spain.

After the show, experience the art forms onstage in Paper Dreams with in-person family engagement programs at select performances. Free for ticket-holders.

KIDS
NEW YORK

Wed, November 09–
Sun, November 20, 2016

Venue

The New Victory Theater, 209 West 42nd
Street New York, NY, 10036

View map

Phone: 646.223.3010

Admission

Buy tickets (from $20)

More information

New Victory Theatre

Credits

In collaboration with the Consulate
General of Spain in New York