

Café Transatlántico: Shared Visions on Museums and Art

Curators Corey Piper (Chrysler Museum of Art), Brandon Ruud (Milwaukee Art Museum), and Clara Marcellán (Museo Nacional Thyssen-Bornemisza) explore the intersections of Spanish and American art in both countries' museums.

In this edition of our coffee talks series that celebrate the cultural bridges that connect our two countries, American curators Corey Piper (Chrysler Museum of Art) and Brandon Ruud (Milwaukee Art Museum) will be joined by Spanish curator Clara Marcellán (Museo Nacional Thyssen-Bornemisza) to discuss shared visions on museums and art.

They will explore intersections of Spanish and American art on the occasion of the exhibition Americans in Spain: Painting and Travel, 1820-1920, currently on display at the Chrysler Museum of Art in Norfolk and opening at the Milwaukee Art Museum in June, and the upcoming retrospective on Georgia O'Keeffe at the Museo Nacional Thyssen-Bornemisza in Madrid.

ABOUT CLARA MARCELLÁN

Clara Marcellán is curator of Modern Painting at the Museo Nacional Thyssen-Bornemisza, where she's been working since 2009, with a focus on its European and American Nineteenth-Century paintings. She has coordinated several temporary exhibitions, including Berthe Morisot (2011) and American Impressionism (2014), and has been curatorial assistant of The Impressionists and Photography (2019) and Georgia O'Keeffe (2021). She holds a bachelor in Art History from Madrid's Universidad Autónoma.
