Antonio, the director of an important newspaper, must choose his successor: Maca, a woman who believes in cooperation among the members of the company and not in verticality at work, will compete against the other deputy director, Vargas, a manipulative journalist who knows it all. The night in which Antonio tells Maca about the selection process, both are locked in the newspaper because of a strong storm and, in the course of that night, they will talk in depth, discuss and reveal transcendental questions about life, journalism, love, sex and death.

ROL & ROL

- Free, registration required.
- Directed by Chus Gutiérrez, Spain, 2020, 79 minutes.
- In Spanish with English subtitles. Watch trailer.

“If you can see it, you can actually become what you see”. Rol & Rol reflects on the role played by the media, the advertising industry, and fiction, as builders of the female role models, and how those models have an impact on the way society thinks, and also on the way women –and men as well– take their decisions about their own lives and professions. Can a less stereotyped and more realistic representation of women have a positive influence on the feminine image as leaders, and in building a more egalitarian society?
