- Directed by Belén Funes, Spain, 2019, drama, 83 minutes. Original title: La hija de un ladrón.
- In Spanish with English subtitles. Watch trailer.

This award-winning directorial debut from writer/director Belén Funes is a searing working class drama with a star making performance from Greta Fernández as Sara, a 22-year-old new mother juggling minimum wage jobs while fighting for custody of her half-brother to keep him out of the foster care system. Just as she's managing to pull it all together, her father –played by her real-life father, veteran actor Eduard Fernández– shows up in Barcelona after a lengthy jail sentence with aspirations of getting back in the family's good graces and threatening to upend their life completely. Recalling the realist dramas of the Dardenne Brothers and Ken Loach among others, this gritty character study is also a heartwarming tale of family that casts a light on some harsh realities in Spain and beyond for those living on the poverty line.
