

Javi Corellano: The Charming Apocalypse

Roll Up Gallery is proud to present The Charming Apocalypse, a solo exhibition by Javi Corellano.

The Charming Apocalypse, two antagonistic concepts used as an inspiration to create beautiful, shiny and colorful paintings with dark meaning. This exhibition is a reflection of the reality we live, an expression of some of the problems that our society is facing these days: climate change, contamination, etc.

Javi Corellano is an artist and illustrator from Barcelona currently residing in Santa Rosa, California. He uses his charming characters and cartoon backgrounds to explain an ugly reality.

VISUAL ARTS
SAN FRANCISCO

Fri, March 25–
Sun, April 17, 2016

Venue

Roll Up Gallery, 161 Erie Street, San Francisco, CA 94103

View map

Admission

Free. Visits by appointment only at b.bigas@publicsf.com or coreisland@hotmail.com.

More information

Roll Up Gallery

Credits

Presented by Roll Up Gallery. Image by Javi Corellano.