

Adam Levin: 21st Century Spanish Guitar

MUSIC
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Mon, March 04, 2019

Venue

Music Recital Hall, Montgomery College,
51 Mannakee St, Rockville, MD 20850

View map

Admission

Free

Credits

Presented by Montgomery College. Photo
by Tatiana Daubek

Virtuoso classical guitarist Adam Levin performs newly commissioned works from the decade-long project called “21st Century Spanish Guitar” at Montgomery College.

Adam Levin’s 21st Century Spanish Guitar project is a result of three years of research in Spain as a Fulbright Scholar, Program for Cultural Cooperation grant recipient, and Kate Neal Kinley Fellow. Levin embarked on a project to commission thirty of today’s most respected living composers. This recital program will highlight significant works from this catalogue, including works by Leonardo Balada, Cristobal Halffter, Antón García Abril, Eduardo Morales-Caso and Salvador Brotons. Maestro Balada will give an insightful pre-concert talk about the influence of Spanish folklore on his music and how he has cultivated a personal and convincing voice in the composition world. Two of his works, based on El Amor Brujo and Concierto de Aranjuez, will be performed during the event.

PROGRAM

- Pre-concert discussion with composer Jorge Muñiz at 5:30 pm.
- Adam Levin performance at 6 pm.
- Reception at 7 pm.