

EuroAsia Shorts 2014

A selection of short films from Europe, Asia, and the United States will be screened at embassies and cultural centers throughout Washington, D.C.

Now in its ninth year, EAS began as the Asian European Short Film Showcase and remains an original collaboration between a small group of Washington, D.C. embassies and cultural center staff. The festival has presented more than 200 short films since it began in 2006, including many award-winning shorts making their U.S. debut. Each year presents a variety of films connected by a single theme with post-film discussions on the first four nights, offering an international cinematic dialogue.

The theme for EAS 2014 is travel and journeys. From day to day, youth to adulthood, or home to abroad, we are all constantly on our own journeys. Sometimes they are planned, other times we are swept along by a beautiful, powerful, or terrible current. Wherever our travels in life take us, we are inevitably transformed in the process.

Two people look for each other in Venice: a labyrinth of streets, bridges and water canals. Filippo, a young Italian photographer, speaks on the cell phone with Maria, a young Spanish girl and a total stranger. Wandering around Venice, they're looking for each other. Helped only by their phones they try to find their way in the labyrinth of more than 400 bridges over water canals. Why are they looking for each other? Will they meet?

Brief discussions following each evening's screenings will compare and contrast the films and the topics with several panelists.
