

'Nuit Blanche DC'

Explore different installations on 4 floors dedicated to performing and visual arts, fashion, and short films, plus DJs who will contribute to an unprecedented mash-up of cultural experiences.

Nuit Blanche is an all-night exploration and celebration of art, which began in Paris in 1984 and has since taken the world by storm. Nuit Blanche DC—now in its third edition—is an innovative project that has the ability to bring an artistic and culturally vibrant nightlife to an area looking to expand its creative economy.

Alliance Française de Washington, DC, Art Soirée Productions and SPAIN arts & culture curated Wonder Bread factory for this festival for the first time in 2011, gathering over 7,000 guests, and in 2012, at galleries and organizations in the Chinatown and Penn Quarter neighborhoods, gathering 15,000 guests.

This is one of 12 venues included in the Art All Night DC 2013 Festival, presented by Shaw Main Streets and sponsored by Douglas Development Corporation, the DC Department of Small and Local Business Development, and DC Main Streets.
